But how could we grow our pipeline of mid-value donors?

- Used a propensity model to qualify a set of mid-value prospects sitting within our standard value base.
- Nurtured these prospects through an omnichannel journey.
- This investment drove income up by $280K or 45% up YOY from the same standard-value segment.

Create stories in QuickSight

Automatically generate data stories using natural language prompts

The screenshot displays the Amazon QuickSight 'Build for me' interface. The main window shows a data story titled 'How to Identify and Convert Your Most Valuable Free-Trial Customers' under the theme 'Unlocking Revenue Growth'. The story includes an 'Introduction' section and a 'Understanding Usage Sessions' section. The 'Understanding Usage Sessions' section features a horizontal bar chart titled 'Free trial customers with more than 5 usage sessions last month'.

Free trial customers with more than 5 usage sessions last month

Customer	Usage Sessions
Kroger	14
Ford Motor	11
United Parcel Service	10
Farmonaut	8
Netflix	7
Costco	6
Star	5
Boji	4
Phillips 66	3

The 'Build for me' sidebar on the right prompts the user to describe the story in simple language. It provides a template for the narrative and allows the user to select a theme for the story.

Hi {{User.Attributes.FirstName}}!

For many children in Haiti, a safe education is merely a dream. Tons of schools are in need of repair, while an alarming number of communities don't have schools at all. This means that children like Sarah don't have a safe place to learn.

At MyCharity, we believe that, together with your help, we can change that.

Hi John!

For many children in Haiti, a safe education is merely a dream. Tons of schools are in need of repair, while an alarming number of communities don't have schools at all. This means that children like Sarah don't have a safe place to learn.

At MyCharity, we believe that, together with your help, we can change that.

Donate

Thank you so much for your continued interest in donating to our mission. We're making a real difference in Haiti and in other affected regions around the world. This season, please consider making another donation to help kids like Sarah have a safe place to learn.
